Order of the Arrow Lodge Listings aka "The Blue Book", 1958
by E. Forest Reynolds

Scanned pages by John Pannell. Retyped pages by Robert Higgins.

2001 introduction by John Pannell <http://www.oaimages.com/bb-1958.shtml>:

"Boy Scout patch collecting has come a long way in the past 50 years. Order of the Arrow Lodge Listings, compiled by E. Forrest Reynolds [sic] in the 1950's, was the first attempt to codify patch listings on a national basis. It was colloquially known as "The Blue Book" and it is from this that the current Blue Book takes its name.

The book's legend... is the genesis of our current system of patch classification. Many of the patch classifications we now know and use are already in place. Some types like "S" for solid flaps and "W" for woven patches, now commonly used, are not mentioned since in 1958 those "new-fangled" types of patches had yet to appear."

John's webpage also included scans of the original pages, as shown in this document.

Corrections to the lodge listing based on the first page of the original text are in blue.

My corrections of typos, misspellings, and from my own research are in red.
